

Withdrawal Policy and Form

After you have been accepted to a study abroad program and paid the required deposit, you are considered an enrolled participant in that program. By making such payment you are expressing your intention to participate in the program, you are acknowledging that the deposit is non-refundable, and you are recognizing that you will be held responsible for some or all of the full program fee, even if ultimately you do not participate in the program, depending on when you formally withdraw from the program.

On-Premise Study Abroad Students:

If you are considering withdrawing from a Study Abroad program for which you have already paid a program deposit, please review this policy, and take the following steps:

1. Speak with Rutgers Global – Study Abroad, specifically your Study Abroad advisor. We may be able to help you find a way to still participate, even if withdrawing seems inevitable.
2. Review the withdrawal timelines and financial obligations below. Remember, program deposits are non-refundable.
3. If you still intend to withdraw after speaking with Rutgers Global – Study Abroad, you must complete and sign the Withdrawal Form section of this policy and form.

Virtual Study Abroad Students:

1. Speak with Rutgers Global – Study Abroad, specifically your Study Abroad advisor. We may be able to help you find a way to still participate, even if withdrawing seems inevitable.
2. The dates below may or may not apply to your program, please reference the webpage for the program for further information.
3. It is imperative that you speak with a Rutgers Global – Study Abroad advisor as soon as possible to mitigate any financial ramifications.

Withdrawals are not considered official and valid until a completed WITHDRAWAL FORM is received. Withdrawals will be effective on the date we receive your email with the Withdrawal Form attached.
