International Week Flags
Each year during International Week, world flags are hung in the Scarlet Lounge of the Campus Center. The flags represent the countries of students and alumni who have come to Rutgers-Camden from other nations.

International Week Photo Contest
The Campus Center will display photos submitted by current students who have participated in a study abroad experience and by international students from their time here in the U.S.

International Student Spotlight
Rutgers-Camden international students come from 6 continents and more than 25 different countries. They bring diverse backgrounds, cultures, and experiences that enhance the Rutgers-Camden community. Check out their profiles across campus!

Paul Robeson Library
Stop by the Paul Robeson Library during International Week to learn more about this year’s Learning Abroad destinations. On display are books about the various countries students will visit in Spring 2020.
