Academic Planning Tips

To determine how study abroad can benefit your degree completion, please use these questions to get started in your planning meetings.

Questions to ask an academic advisor in your school:

- What are the graduation requirements for my degree?
- What are the remaining requirements I must fulfill in order to graduate?
- What core/major/minor requirements can I take during my semester abroad and how will study abroad contribute to my progress?

Questions to ask a department advisor if you have a major or minor (declared or intended):

- How many lower-level and/or upper-level credits do I need to complete for my desired major and/or minor?
- What remaining prerequisites must be fulfilled before I study abroad?
- What credits earned on my study abroad program can be used to fulfill my major/minor requirements?

Questions to ask a study abroad advisor:

- Based on my general interests of study abroad and my desired major/minor, what study abroad programs might fit my needs?
- How can I get courses approved for my program(s) of interest?
- What do I need to consider in preparing for my travel?
- How can I contact Rutgers students who have participated in my program(s) of interest?
